Taking inspiration from the winter snow, Violet class wrote Haikus inspired by the cold and chill winds. To compliment these, the painted winter landscapes taking inspiration from the renowned Japanese artist Katsuhika Hokusai as the Haiku format comes from Japan.

Frost covered my face,
Flakes landed on me quickly,
Cold turned into ice.

As you can see, this follows the traditional structure of a haiku. Three lines in length, with each line taking a strict 5 : 7 : 5 syllabic structure.
