Dear Parents and Carers

This is a quick update on the KS2 area.

We had hoped that the results of the testing would now be complete and we would be able to report back to you on Monday. However, we have now been informed that we won't have the final report until early next week so I won't be able to share anything until then.

Please be assured that as soon as I have information to share I will do so.

Thank you all again for your on-going understanding and support.
